HIS FORCE INCREASED

The District Poundmaster Directed to Capture All Untagged Dogs.

Law to Be Strictly Enforced - Expense to Be Met From Emergency Fund.

It has been decided by the District Commissioners to enlarge the force of Pound-master Einstein by giving him three additional dog-catching teams, with instructions to impound every dog found running at large without the tag or collar required by law to be worn by such animals. This action of the Commissioners is not based on the alleged prevalence of hydrophobia in the District, but is due to the fact that at the present time there is, so they have been informed, an unusually large number of dogs running at large without the required tags and collars.

The work of the poundmaster in capturing and impounding dogs has recently been greatly hampered by the employment of himself and his force in the disinfecting service. He and his men have been so busily engaged in this work that they have been compelled to practically stop the work of capturing and impounding dogs. The Commissioners now find it possible to take the pound force from the disinfecting work, and, with unlimited means from the emergency fund, place the force exclusively at work on dogs.

What the Law Requires

The law requires every dog to wear a tag indicating that its owner has paid the tax required by law. Every dog without a tag, whether accompanied by its owner or not master and his men when the animal is found running at large. When captured, the dog is taken to the pound, where he is kept for forty-eight hours, and if at the expiration of that period the animal is not reclaimed, the law requires its destruction by the poundmaster. The law also requires every dog running at large to wear a collar, and for fallure to provide their dogs with tags or collars the law makes the offending owners liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $20. To reclaim an transmid dogs the armore must now a fine impounded dog the owner must pay a fine of $2, and every person failing to pay the required license on dogs is also made sub-ct to a fine. The chief of police has been directed by The chief of police has been directed by the Commissioners to have his men inform all persons on their respective beats of the requirements of the laws relating to dogs, and he has also been directed to enforce these laws to the fulest extent, the Commissioners having determined to not only provide for the capture of all dogs running at large without the required collars and tags, but also to compel every person owning or harboring a dog to pay the required license and otherwise observe the laws relative to them.

Duty of Commissioners.

While there have been eleven dogs discovered suffering from hydrophobia here since the first of January, the Commissioners have, they state, no reason to believe that there is any dog so afflicted now at large in the District. By the act of June 19, 1878, it is made the duty of the Commissioners, when they have reason to be level that one or more dogs suffering from hy-drophobia are at liberty in the District, to issue a proclamation requiring all dogs running at large, or even taken out by their owners or others upon the streets or public roads, to wear such a muzzle as will prevent the animals from biting or snapping.

will prevent the animals from biting or snapping.

In certain sections of the District, particularly in the neighborhood of Dupont Circle, it is said, there exists today what may be termed a mad dog scare. But, officially, the Commissioners know of no mad dog being at large, nor have they reason to believe that any animal so afflicted is now at large, and they therefore do not feel justified in issuing the proclamation provided by the act of 1878. Simply as a natter of precaution, and because of their belief that there are many tramp and unilicensed dogs running at large, have they enlarged the force of the poundmaster and given him and the police department emphatic instructions to enforce to the utmost extent the laws applicable in such cases.

SEEKING A METHOD.

Local Republicans Considering How to Select Convention Delegates.

A group of well-known District republicans gathered last night in Willard's Hotel, in response to a call issued by Mr. L. M. Saunders, with the purpose of deciding upon some unobjectionable method by delegates to the national convention of 1900 may be selected. Mr. William C. Dodge was elected chairman, with Mr. M. M. Holland secretary.

Mr. Saunders made a brief address explanatory of the objects of the meeting. and said the District republicans wanted and said the District republicans wanted no repetition of the scandal of three years ago, when 40,000 votes were cast in twenty-three voting precincts, or about four times as many votes as there were voters. A long discussion followed over the course to pursue, which at several points grew heated. At last a resolution presented by J. Hale Sypher was adopted providing that a committee of seven be appointed by the chair to draw up a plan for choosing delegates and to present such plan to a mass meeting prior to presenting it to the national committee.

The chair appointed as this committee L. M. Saunders, Thomas G. Hensey, John F. Cook, H. F. Woodward, Daniel Murray, Dr. Robert Reyburn and Dr. C. B. Purvis.

A finance committee was also appointed, consisting of George E. Emmons, H. F. Woodward and W. C. Chase. no repetition of the scandal of three years

Promotion and Appointment.

annum, vice George K. Woodworth, signed, and they have appointed S. F. by chainman at $650 per annum, vice Down for Thirty Days. James Maloney has been drunk five times in the last two weeks, so Policeman Stange today told Judge Kimball. Maloney denied the accusation, and said he never got in-texicated. The court believed what the of-ficer said and sent Maloney down for thirty days in default of a bond for $50. Visited by His Father.

The father of Frank Funk, alleged murderer of William H. Brooks, arrived here yesterday from Allegheny City, Pa., and called on the prisoner at the District jail. Mr. Funk brought his son a quantity of wearing apparel, and also gave him a bag of fruit. Attorney Price, counsel for the prisoner, accompanied Mr. Funk.

The District Commissioners have directed that the general taxes paid on land within W, 3d, 5th and 6th streets northeast, Center Eckington, for the years 1892 to 1898, ter Eckington, for the years 1892 to 1898, inclusive, as shown on the subdivision of Center Eckington, approved May 1, 1899, except on those portions of 3d and 5th streets which were not included in the subdivision of December 15, 1891, be refunded.

COLLEGE CORNER STONE

Ceremonies This Afternoon on Site of Proposed Institution of Learning.

First Catholic College in Washington for Higher Education of Women -The Auxiliary Boards.

The ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the first Catholic col-lege in Washington for the higher education of women began at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the grounds selected as the site in the vicinity of the Catholic University. The institution will be known as Trinity College. Mr. Edwin F. Durang, the architect, and the contractors of the various divisions of construction attended the exerest possible time, still they were also fully convinced that it is practically impossible for them under the existing circumstances to accomplish this. The ceremony was simply the blessing of to accomplish this.

The board of Temple trustees reported to this committee that it has in hand $29,200 of Temple trust bonds, donated to the temple by various persons, and about $8,000 in cash and notes. At the request of the committee the board of trustees, by resolution, ordered that the $8,000 be distributed ratably among the bondholders, such payments to be indorsed upon the bonds. The date for this payment was fixed at January 1, 1900. the stone by Very Rev. Dr. Garrigan, vice rector of the Catholic University. Impressive solemnities are reserved for the dedication of the edifice previous to its opening next October and for the consecration of the college church at a later date. Owing to this fact no invitations were issued. Sister Julia, the provincial su-perior of the Sisters of Notre Dame of Namur in the United States, and Sister Mary Euphrasia, superior of the Washing-ton Convent of Notre Dame, and two other Gifts of Substantial Character at Friedlander & Co.'s Establishment. The needs of men, women and children constitute a subject that is uppermost in

Namur in the United States, and Sister Mary Euphrasia, superior of the Washington Convent of Notre Dame, and two other sisters were present, one having assisted in drawing up the plan of the college buildings, the other being engaged in their superintendence. The members of the auxillary board of Trinity College, enjoying all the privileges that can be granted by the faculty, were also present.

The members of the auxiliary board of Washington are as follows: Miss Olive Risley Seward, president; Miss Marie E.
Patterson, vice president; Miss Marie E.
Bland, Mrs. Francis M. Ramsey, Mrs. Eugene A. Carr, Mrs. Thomas H. Carter, Miss
Catharine Roach, Miss E. C. Dangerfield,
Mrs. W. C. Robinson, Miss M. C. Redfern,
Miss E. L. Dorsey, Miss M. E. Seawell,
Mrs. Henriques, Mrs. Philip Sheridan,
Countess Lichterveide, Miss Elizabeth Sherman, Miss Emily Mason, Mrs. Z. B. Vance, Mrs. Thomas M. Vincent.

Thes ladies, prominent in social and ilterary circles, take active interest in the work, helping the sisters to make the college known, but especially in raising funds to erect the buildings and equip them. They are ably supported by the local boards, that of Boston, under the leadership of Miss Emma Forbes Carey, having displayed marked enthusiasm on the recent occasion of a lecture on "The Higher Education of Women," given by Rev. Thomas J. Gasson, S. J., and presided over by Archbishop Williams. The St. Louis board is also strongly organized and receives the highest clerical and lay approbation.

The church, the convent and about onethird of the college section are now in course of erection. Since ground was broken June 21 additional land has the minds of most people, particularly at this time. Christmas is near at hand, and with its approach the necessity of selecting gifts intensifies daily. There has been a growing tendency of late years to substitute presents of a substantial and useful character for those of a mere sentimental nature. A most varied and numerous assortment of the sensible and useful is to be found at the well-known establishment of S. Friedlander & Co., 416 7th street. Those in quest of remembrances for relatives and friends may select from a most complete stock, including men's and boys' clothing, ladies' suits, jackets, capes, silk petticoats, silk and flannel waists, furs, millinery, gloves, underwear, shoes, hats, hoslery and jewelry. An attractive feature of the establishment is the jewelry department, which is surmounted with a glowing arch composed of 250 incandescent electric lights.
